Army Officers and Enlisted Men To Dress Alike After June 1948

Officers and men of the Army will dress alike after June 30, 1948 in battle jackets and trousers of the same olive drab shade now used in enlisted men's clothing. This type of uniform is worn now by many officers and men and will become obligatory for all personnel after the 1948 deadline. Until then, the present types of uniform may be worn.

New regulations prescribing the olive drab combination for all ranks also paved the way for the eventual adoption of blue dress uniforms for officers and men provided they can be procured and manufactured without interfering with the production of civilian clothing. If available, the blues will be worn by officers and men after June 30, 1948, for dress and special occasions. If the blues do not become available, the olive drab jackets and trousers will serve for both duty and dress.

The new regulations are based in this connection on the same policy which will govern decisions on the future authorization of the wear of civilian dress by military personnel. No such authorization will be considered while any substantial element of competition for clothing exists between military personnel and civilians.

No More 'Mixtures'

The new standard jacket and trousers will supplant the multi-colored style mixtures of shirts, blouses, jackets, and trousers which have been recognized as the uniform of the Army, particularly for officers. Also to be abandoned are the various types of long and short overcoats. Instead, a combination overcoat - raincoat with detachable lining will be adopted for summer and tropical wear, the duty uniform of officers and enlisted men will continue to be the familiar khaki. The summer dress uniform for officers and men will be shirt, trousers, service cap, and battle jacket in tropical weathered material.

'Testing' Dress Uniforms

The plan for the blue dress uniforms is still in the research stage and will not be put into effect until civilian clothing production is stabilized. A half-dozen different styles of uniforms and textures of wool will be tested and the General Staff has directed the Quartermaster Corps to proceed with further experiments.

Scarcity of material will make it impossible to procure more than a test quantity to outfit even one small unit before next October or November. That date itself will be possible only after assurance that there will be no interference with the demand for material for men's clothing.

The request to explore the possibilities of blue uniforms came from the European Theater of Operations when General Eisenhower, now Chief of Staff, was in command there. It was suggested that the blue uniforms might be used for the Army of Occupation, that new uniforms would be welcomed by our soldiers, and that they would distinguish them from troops of Allied Nations.

Tests for a satisfactory shade of blue are now being made and it will be several months before the lasting qualities of the new color are determined. Experimental models of the enlisted men's dress uniform comprise a sack type coat, matching trousers, and visored cap. In medium weight wool, brass buttons and piping in the color of the individual's branch or arm of service add contrast. The officers' dress uniform as contemplated would be similar except for insignia.

Col. Peters, Vet Of 2 Theaters, Joins AGF Bd.

For its vitally important work of testing and designing various types of equipment for G. I. Joe, the Army Ground Forces Board No. 3 recently added a combat veteran of two theaters in the person of Lt. Col. Ernest C. Peters, West Point graduate of the class of 1931.

Col. Peters was born and educated through high school in Dunbar, N. Y. Upon graduation from West Point he was assigned to the 28th Infantry, 1st Division, at Madison Barracks, N. Y. A month later he moved with the outfit to Fort Hayes, Ohio, and served with it until 1934.

At Pearl Harbor he was then sent to Schofield Barracks, Hawaii with the 19th Infantry until 1937. Coming back to the states he was assigned to the 35th Infantry, 1st Division, at Fort Benning, Ga. From there he came to Fort Benning for a year, attending the officers course until 1938. Upon completion of his studies he was assigned to the 16th Infantry, 1st Division at Fort Jay, N. Y., until 1940. Another tour of duty followed with the 35th Infantry as a battalion commander through the Japanese sneak attack on Pearl Harbor.

Back to the states again in 1943 he was assigned to Camp Roberts, California, where he commanded the 1st Infantry Battalion and the L.R.C. School.

In "Battle of Bulge" January, 1944 found him with the 88th Division at Camp Maxie, Texas, as commander of 2nd Battalion, 333rd Infantry with which he served until the end of the war. The 333rd landed in Europe September 1944 and went through the battle of the Belgian Bulge and later crossed the Rhine at the Remagen Bridge. His division was the fourth to cross the Rhine and the first complete division to do so. He then fought through the Ruhr pocket, into "Austria" and was in sight of the Alps at Landsht at the war's end.

Colonel Peters then served occupation duty as an area commander with the 99th, 79th and again the 1st Division, ending up at Würzburg, Bavaria. At one time he was also in charge of 20,000 displaced persons at Aschaffenburg, Bavaria.

His decorations include South Pacific theater ribbon with two battle stars, the ETO ribbon with three battle stars, Purple Heart, Bronze Star, Purple Heart, Combat Infantryman badge, and pre-war decorations. He was married to the former Mary Andrews of Newark, N. J. They have three boys, Richard, 4, Ernest C. Jr., 2, and Donald, 10. They reside at 105 Sigefrofs.

79 Marines Guarding Headquarters Of UNO

Selected from 7,500 officers and men at Camp Lejeune, N. C., seventy-five enlisted men and four officers are quartered on the converted LST Marine berthed at Pier 92 in the North River while acting as security guards for the temporary United Nations headquarters at Hunter College, New York City.

The Marines, led by Major James M. Platt, will function for a 30-day period until a permanent guard can be recruited by the UNO.

New Section Wants Ideas On Infantry

Col. Ben Harrel, veteran of the African, Italian, Southern France, and Australian campaigns, has been selected by Maj. Gen. John W. "Iron Mike" O'Daniel to head a new office known as the Combat Requirements Section.

The mission of the section will be to examine present Infantry tactics, organization and techniques in the light of combat experience and to recommend improvements to the commandant.

Said General O'Daniel: "It is my desire that expression of new ideas on any matter affecting Infantry and its development be encouraged among all officers and men in the School. Nothing is so good that it cannot be improved."

Peers of the School are urged to submit to the Combat Requirements Section any development ideas that may be made a project for study and recommendations. Colonel Harrel recommends that proposals be submitted in writing.

Pfc. Takes TIS Course, Is Awarded H. S. Diploma!

"Many men in the Army, who lack a year or so of finishing high school which will award the diploma, do not realize that there are many ways in which they can obtain a high-school diploma through their organization's Information and Education office."

These words were spoken by Clyde Butler of the I&E office, 2nd Student Training Battalion, Academic Regiment, The Infantry School, at a recent orientation. Butler, who peddles education with a passion through his unit, elaborated further on this theme.

Soldiers who thought they'd never get anything out of basic training besides an aversion for walking may find that the credits that high schools allow for this training is all they need to get their diplomas.

Courses in Army Service Schools may also be translated into high-school credits. Pfc. John Warner of the Academic Regiment, who lacked a half year of finishing, Adrian High School, Adrian, Mich., was awarded a diploma on the strength of a 12-week automotive course he attended at The Infantry School. His high school allowed him four credits for this educational achievement.

United States Armed Forces Institute courses are also accredited by high schools. A two-dollar investment will bring you all the USAFI courses you need to get enough credits for a high-school diploma. Where else will you find a better investment? The dividends that will accompany your possession of a diploma in later life will repay your investment many times.

Pfc. Homer Cole is obtaining his diploma in this manner from Central High School, Oklahoma City, upon completion of a history and English course.

If you haven't graduated from high school, but think that your educational level is equal to that of the average high-school graduate, you may take the General Educational Level Test at your I&E office. If you pass the test with a satisfactory grade, it will be forwarded to your home town.

AAF Liaison Officer Takes Jump Training

The first pilot to complete jump training at the Airborne School, Lt. Col. Wright J. Sherrard, of Lawson Field, will be awarded his parachutist wings at TABS graduation exercises Saturday.

The colonel volunteered for jump training, he said, "to better my qualifications as the Air Force Liaison Officer at Lawson Field."

"By going through the four-week training course at the Airborne School, I have familiarized myself with the paratroopers' point of view and the many problems which confront him during an airborne operation."

"I hope to be able now to instill in pilots more effectively in airborne operations, thus achieving better cooperation and coordination between Air Force and Airborne personnel," the Colonel explained.

The Colonel will have completed four weeks of rigorous parachute jump training, including six jumps and the many physical and technical phases of becoming a paratrooper.

Colonel Sherrard, of Bainville, Louisiana, has been with the Army Air Forces since November 1940. He spent two years overseas, returning November 1945 to assume his duties at Lawson Field.

Travel Service Helps
Gls Plan Furloughs

So you're going on a furlough? That's swell you say. "I can't wait to see the folks. But it sure will be tough for this GI to get to his town and make travel arrangements, our company has to stand formation."

At ease, buddy, your worries are over—because Helen Marshall, an attractive and enterprising Columbus woman, had the ingenuity to organize the Helen Marshall Travel Service.

Just get to the nearest telephone and call Helen at the Ralston Hotel (733). (Her office is on the mezzanine). Tell her whether you want to go by plane or train and she'll do the rest—choose the best schedule and connections, make your reservations and have your ticket waiting you when your last shirt is packed and you're ready to head for home.

Mrs. Marshall is busy planning business and pleasure trips for civilians too. So busy in fact, that she doesn't know when she'll ever again find time to take a vacation herself. Here's just a glimpse of the things she can plan:

Seashore and Mountains
"If you want to go to the seashore or the mountains, just pick your spot and I'll get you there and make the accommodations awaiting you."

Enthusiastic over her new venture, Mrs. Marshall is an agent for the Ralston Hotel and is planning trips already for several persons bound for Mexico, Guatemala, Yucatan, Havana and Nassau.

Also available are Caribbean, Great Lakes and St. Lawrence river cruises.

Trips to Europe Soon
Travel to Europe soon will be open, and Mrs. Marshall has just returned from New York where she made arrangements to handle schedules of some of the large ocean lines.

She expects soon to be approved by the Air Traffic Conference and will be an agent for all airlines. At present she represents Eastern Air Lines.

With business growing by leaps and bounds, Mrs. Marshall hopes by next year to manage special trips to the Mardi Gras, the Kentucky Derby and maybe to New

Airborne School Costume Ball Will be Held Tomorrow Night

A costume ball for the personnel of the Airborne School will be given Friday night, March 29, in the "A" Stage gym. Featured on the evening's program will be the selection of the most unique costumes and waiting and jittersburging contests.

Girls from Columbus and LaGrange have been invited to attend the ball, for the benefit of the single men in the school. Wives and sweethearts of personnel are also cordially invited. Bus transportation will be provided from Columbus and LaGrange. Bus schedules are posted in TABS area.

Any manner of costume may be worn, with first and second prizes to be awarded to both men and women and for the most unique costumes. First and second prizes will also be presented to both men and women for the best couples in walking and jittersburging.

The ball is sponsored by TABS with Capt. John W. Marr, Welfare and Recreation officer, in charge of the program and decorations. Music will be furnished by the 26th AGF dance band.

Notes of Interest

Maj. Gen. Hugh J. Gaffey, commandant of the Armored School, Fort Knox, Ky., visited the post last weekend. He was accompanied by Lt. Col. Welborn C. Dolvin.

Brig. Gen. R. Van Brunt visited the post for two days last week. He is stationed at Maxwell Field, Ala.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. William R. Deary visited at Fort Benning for several days. Gen. Deary was former commanding officer of the ASF Regional Hospital.

Brig. Gen. and Mrs. Thomas S. Arms visited the post for several days last week on their way to Key West, Fla.

Army Day Dance For GIs And Vets To Be Held By VFW

An Army Day dance for all military personnel and veterans will be given at the Cherokee Lodge Saturday evening, April 6 by the Columbus Veterans of Foreign Wars Post as a climax to Army Day programs locally.

Military personnel may obtain tickets from any member of the VFW or at the door on the night of the dance, Joseph Mitchell, chairman of the arrangements committee, announces. Mr. Mitchell may be contacted at the Quartermaster office.

Infantry School Troops Dominate Post Sports Scene in 45-46

Since its activation in February 1945 (School Troops Personnel have made their presence keenly felt by their opponents with enthusiasm in athletics or pastimes. School Troops teams have not only gained more laurels in athletic competition than any other Post team but teams entered as representatives of Fort Benning have had a great many School Troops as members of the teams. The fact that School Troops comprise only approximately 18 percent of total personnel (excluding students) leaves no doubt as to why School Troops are proud of their athletic accomplishments.

Won Post Hoop Title
When School Troops was activated the basketball season was well under way but, unaccounted, School Troops entered two teams in the Post League. The "Vets" representing ITD 2 won the Post Championship while the "Demons" entered as the ITD 1 team, ended up in third place.
The 1945 Post-Basketball League was established with eight teams. The "Vets" entered the "Vets" while ITD 1's "Barnstormers" entered the Minor League for the first half of the season.
The "Barnstormers" entered the Post League the second half and wound up in fifth place while the "Vets" runner-up to 3rd STR "Rifles" Post champions. Both the "Vets" and "Rifles" were entered in the Georgia State Basketball Tournament at Macon.

Captured State Crown
The "Vets" defeated the "Rifles" in the tournament and went on to take the trophy, thus becoming State champions. As a result of this the "Vets" entered the National Basketball Congress at Wichita, Kansas, but were eliminated in the quarter-finals.

School Troops entered four teams in the 1945 Post Softball League; the ITD 2 "Snipers" and ITD 1 "Demons" winning the Post championship and runner-up spot, respectively. Entering the State Invitational Tournament at Marietta the "Snipers" lost out to Fort McPherson, who went on to win the medal, but defeated Dunsmuir in the finals of the Callaway Educational Association Tournament at LaGrange to win the CFA championship.

School Troops personnel composed about three-fourths of Fort Benning "Doughboys" football team that ranked fifth among Service teams. Army, Navy and Marines, throughout the nation in 1945.

Another Hoop Crown
The 1945-46 basketball season found three School Troops teams entered in the Post League. The ITD 2 "Snipers" won the first-half title, but due to a tremendous loss of personnel the ITD 1 "Demons" and the "Snipers" combined for the second half and played as the "Vets" in Post League games but retained the name "Snipers" when playing away from the Post. The "Vets" won the Post championship for the second successive year and were entered in the Georgia State Open Tournament, which they won after defeating some of Georgia's best Service and civilian teams. The "Snipers" entered the Southeastern AAU meet, and lost by one point in the final game. They again reached the finals in the National American Basketball Congress but were beat out by Camp Atterbury, Indiana State champions.

Won Bibb Tourney
Another School Troops team, 5th Inf Tng Co, entered the Sportsman's Club's Annual Invitational Basketball Tournament at Bibb City and beat out other Post teams and several top-notch civilian teams to take first place in the meet.

Two School Troops were on the Fort Benning Bowling Team that won the "National Telegraph Tournament" in which Service teams from all over the country competed. A School Trooper led the first half Post Bowling League in total pin fall and three games high in addition to having the highest first-half average. Members of the Chess Club also felt the sting of defeat at the hands of School Troops. The four prize positions went to members—on School Troops as they emerged with unchanged leadership in the first-half Post Chess tournament.

50,000 Doughnuts Being Made Daily For GIs in Japan
"TOKYO.—The Red Cross 'doughnut factory' at Keio University, near Tokyo, is making 50,000 doughnuts daily for Army consumption in Japan. The 'factory' is housed in a commissary taken over by the Red Cross. To meet the prodigious soldier appetites, the bakery, bossed by Red Cross worker Ann Lally of Baltimore, Md., uses up daily ten 40-pound bags of sugar, 40 stacks of flour, a case and a half of eggs, two pounds of salt, 17 cans of lard and a case of baking powder.

It takes 17 Japanese workers, some big wooden mixing tubs and 11 doughnut machines to bring the doughnuts to the soldier consumers.

Lt. Demko Takes Course in C-82
First Lt. A. G. Demko, engineering officer of the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron, has returned to Lawson Field after taking a ten-day course on the operation and maintenance of the C-82 Fairchild Packet airplane at the Fairchild Aircraft factory at Hagerstown, Maryland.

Engineering Officers of all bases and units of the Ninth Troop Carrier Command are being given the course to prepare the way for Troop Carriers growing up to zone of the interior assignment to the Lawson Field base.

Lieutenant Demko, whose home is in Princeton, N. J., served overseas in the ETO as engineering officer of the 75th Troop Carrier Squadron. He and his wife, Mrs. Demko, reside at 1054 Roosevelt Street, Columbus, Ga.

Here, There, Everything

BY SGT. CHUCK LEWIS
IF DEWEY WILKINS, CLEM LABINE and MEL HIMES, School Troops, in their all-out for sports campaign, will have 25 softball teams, according to Lt. Bill Meek, 2nd STR. Meek is having a hard time finding equipment enough to supply all these teams.

Bill Johnson, A & R non-com in the Academic Regiment, is getting in shape by getting the regiment's baseball field in shape... Bill pulls a mean rake on a good show for the crowd Sunday with his Durocher antics... Not to be outdone the crowd gave him the raspberries when he began warming up for pitching duties... Lt. Fanning, who did such a fine job getting Gowdy Field ready for opening day, reports that more loud speakers will be added to the stands so that everyone in the stands can hear...

Secretary of War Proposes 20 Pct. Army Pay Boost

Secretary of War Patterson and representatives of the War Department, Navy Department, Marine Corps, Coast Guard, Public Health Service and the Geologic and Geodetic Survey, submitted to the Congress recommendations for a flat 20 percent increase in the pay of enlisted men and women. The purpose is to bring current pay schedules more in line with the cost of living and also to provide additional incentive to recruiting. The security of the military service, it is argued, will require the enlistment of the maximum number of volunteers for the armed forces.

In their personal endorsements of the report made by the Interdepartmental Pay Committee, Secretary Patterson and Forrestal pointed out that the armed forces must compete with private business and industry in recruiting men capable of becoming technicians competent to handle the complicated mechanical equipment of the post-war services. They feel the pay increase will be of great help in the incentive of pay levels more nearly approaching industrial standards, but do not believe it will solve the problem of enlisting sufficient men to make good the national depletion. What is produced by this raise in pay will make possible earlier discharge of men with long service.

No increases were recommended in flying pay, parachute and glider pay, and special pay and allowances. Study of these types of services showed that members of the services who are not on flight pay or similar pay are not likely to be able to participate in aerial flights without compensation for the additional risk involved. The measure provides for a guaranty of $10,000 for loss of life or limb in authorized aerial flights.

Wital Necessity
The 20 percent pay increase recommendation was described by the committee as a "vital necessity" for the services to attract the caliber of recruits they require. It is pointed out that there is an overwhelming need for the recommended increase in pay and allowances. The recommendation was approved unanimously by the Interdepartmental Pay Committee.

Japs Found Still Drilling; Airborne Forces Change
YOKOHAMA—Military drilling was found to be still in progress in Japan, according to a report by an 11th Airborne Division patrol operating in Yonewa. According to 8th Army intelligence reports, the students at the Uruma Primary school were discovered to be drilling regularly in a military fashion, despite the fact that they had received orders to stop drills immediately. The principal was asked by an end to stop drills immediately, he replied that he had received no orders to abolish the military exercises, and was reluctant to comply with the patrol's request.

Kin Of War Dead Given U.S. Detail
A soldier who has lost through death one or more members of his immediate family is entitled to their service in the Armed Forces since December, 1941, may, upon application, be permanently assigned within the continental limits of the United States, according to the War Department Circular No. 57, dated February 27, 1946. The circular further provides that "such personnel who are serving overseas, will, upon application, be returned to the United States for permanent assignment."

The provisions of the circular do not apply to Regular Army enlisted men who signed up after Feb. 27, 1946, nor to other Regular Army enlistees, except where, at the time of their enlistment, the enlisted man was entitled to zone of the interior assignment under the provisions of War Department Circular 128, 1945.

Mrs. Bryan Sings At RC Services
BY CPL. W. A. HAGINS
In an effort to enhance the Sunday morning worship services at the Reception Center, popular songs from Columbus are appearing on these programs at the invitation of Reception Center chaplains.

Mrs. L. V. Bryan was the guest artist during the worship services Sunday. Her renditions of the songs "Canon" and "I'll Let Nothing Separate Me From His Love" were most outstanding.

Mrs. John AME Church Choir and recites also. She is often called upon to appear on both civic and religious programs in the city and is the wife of Dr. H. T. Bryan, who operates the drug store on 6th Street and 4th Avenue.

544 Reenlist In Present TIS Assignments

Opportunity for jobs in one of nine various assignments is the feature in the recruiting drive now in progress at The Infantry School. But the two groups which most of the men prefer are present assignment and Regular Army, unassigned.

Other assignments include European Theater, Alaskan Department, Africa-Middle East, Pacific Theater, China Theater, Caribbean Defense Command and Zone of Interior.

According to the latest report from the Recruiting Drive headquarters, a total of 2038 men have either enlisted or re-enlisted. Majority of the enlistments selected the status of Regular Army unassigned, while another 544 picked their present assignment. Most of those re-enlisting, 248, also chose their present assignment.

A breakdown of recruiting figures among units of The Infantry School shows that School Troops, while the 652 Academic Regiment is runner up with 550, and 1st STR has 368. Next in line are 3d STR and 2d STR, 171.

On a overall basis, 11 per cent of the strength of The Infantry School has either enlisted or re-enlisted since the recruiting drive began in October.

10th Co. Holds Stag Party For 4th Platoon Marksmen
It has been traditional at The Infantry School for the Platoon of the officer candidate company to hold a stag party for the M-1 range to be entertained at a stag party by the other three platoons of the company.

No breakers of tradition are the first three platoons of Capt. William O. Kayler's 10th Company, 3d STR, who honored the fourth at a stag dinner at the company mess hall Thursday.

Candidate John McNaughton, master-of-ceremonies of the entertainment program highlighted by the singing of candidate Robert J. Moore, American Opera Company performer, Candidate Dominick O'Connor, who before his entry into the Army was a Broadway theatrical man, was program chairman.

'Flying Boxcars' to Be Used for Paratroopers!

At the bottom is a portion of the spacious cargo hold. The hold is 38 feet long, 8 1/2 feet wide and 8 1/2 feet high except for a small section under the pilot's cabin. Its squared interior, unusual in airplanes, makes loading quick and easy. This cargo hold contains 2,916 cubic feet—43 per cent as large as a railroad car. In the hold Capt. Warren Smith, a pilot (right), is discussing position of the light switches with S-Sgt. Ray Gillis, jumpmaster. (Signal Corps Photos by Cpl. Phil Charleston.)

it the Packet is sort of a flying barracks in appearance, but no barracks ever traveled 180 miles per hour. This plane and its sister ship will carry parachute troopers on their jump missions at Fort Benning.

It carries 42 jumpers, and it obviously wouldn't take many such planes to take the Infantry off its feet for good.

"The shape of the fuselage helps the jumpers, they tell us, because it curves in toward the back," Colonel Curtis said. "They jump almost straight out without having to turn at right angles before jumping as they had to do in the old planes. And they don't jump directly into the slipstream."

4,000 Horsepower

Two 2,000-h.p. plus horsepower Wasp engines power the C-82. Its 108-foot wing will lift ten tons of cargo, in addition to the weight of the plane, which is 30,000 pounds. It will carry a two and one-half ton truck, or a 75 mm gun, or a 150 mm howitzer. And it tows two gliders.

Combat Veterans Warned To Steer Clear Of Alcohol

CHICAGO. — Veterans with combat experience should steer clear of over-indulgence in alcohol lest they be led to unpredictable crimes of violence. This was the warning of Dr. Harold S. Hulbert, psychiatrist, who suggested that front-line men should watch their drinking for the next four to seven years and indulge in plenty of outdoor recreation so their brain will return to normal.

107,668 Officers Seek Regular Army Appointment

Some 107,668 temporary commissioned officers in the Army of the United States applied for appointment as commissioned officers in the new peacetime Regular Army under provisions of a recent bill authorizing such commissions. The War Department announced today. Of the total figure, 58,419 applicants are for the Army Air Forces, 28,723 for the Army Service Forces, and 22,516 for the Army Ground Forces.

"Applications were closed on March 1, but due to the tremendous response, the final number has just been recorded even with a greatly expanded number of personnel working night and day," said Major General H. N. Gilbert, USA, Director of Military Personnel Procurement Service, an activity of the Adjutant General's Office, charged with the integration of officers into the Regular Army.

With approximately 10,000 Regular Army commissions open at the present time, or one to every ten applications, the competition is unusually keen, and should therefore secure for the new peacetime Regular Army the highest type of officer," General Gilbert continued.

All temporary commissioned officers in the Army of the United States who served during the war were eligible to apply for appointment as commissioned officer in the Regular Army in accordance with the Congressional Act, provided they submitted their applications prior to March 1. This applied to officers who are still serving in the Army of the United States, both in this country and overseas, as well as those who have been separated from the service.

Under present provisions of the bill the total number of commissioned officers is limited to 25,000, although the ultimate officer strength of the peacetime Regular Army has not yet been determined.
